

Children's Mangrove Calendar Art Contest

Dear Friend of the Mangroves,

We would like to invite children from your country to join in this fantastic, creative and educational competition. It is an opportunity for the younger generation to learn about the vital role Mangroves play in the lives of coastal communities and marine life around the world whilst letting them explore their imagination and have fun when creating their pieces of art.

This competition is a wonderful way for participating NGOs to build relationships with teachers and to develop children's understanding when thinking about the environment around them. Education about the importance of Mangrove and Coastal ecosystems is critical when affecting long-term change; they are the next generation of decision makers and we have the chance to teach them the value of the natural world, giving them a life-long appreciation and respect for their environment.

There are some significant changes to the rules and entry process this year due to the Covid-19 pandemic. This year, we have opened the competition to all children worldwide, encouraging everyone to get creative during this time while you may be stuck indoors and self-isolating.

As always, the selected winning artworks will be published in next year's calendar (2021), which will help to raise awareness of mangrove forests whilst encouraging and listening to the imaginative voices of the next generation. All student winners, participating NGOs and schools will receive copies of the final calendar, and the winning students will receive a signed official certificate showing their great achievement in this year's Children's Mangrove Art Contest.

Please do pass on information about this competition to your local schools, teachers, home schooling groups, youth groups and families. If you do need further ideas of how you or your schools can take part, please don't hesitate to get in touch with me at monicaguardo@olympus.net. And most importantly we want you all to stay safe and follow social distancing rules while taking part this year!

We look forward to seeing all your fantastic, colourful artwork!

Yours sincerely,
